PFPF Chairman joins up the dots at Firex

David Sugden, Chairman of the Passive Fire Protection Federation, spoke at International Firex, the UK's largest dedicated fire safety event (16th-19th May at the NEC Birmingham). David's talk, "A Joined-up Approach", formed part of the free seminar programme on legislation, standards and best practice. His theme is that Fire Safety in buildings must include not only good design and built in fire protection measures but sound risk management from initial design through to and during occupation. Fire safety is not a one-off element or a box to be ticked; it requires a well thought out and ongoing strategy.

If you didn't catch David's presentation but would like further details, please contact the PFPF at admin@pfpf.org.
